Our team, with over 50 years of combined experience, works to market, educate, and celebrate our area as a craft beer destination. Contact us: 'ShoreCraftBeer.com'

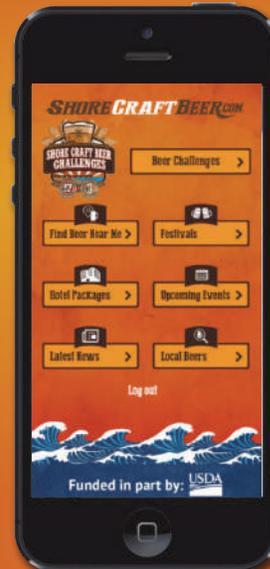

'ShoreCraftBeer.com' is an effort to bring all the information related to craft beer on the Shore together in one place. We focus on local breweries, craft beer, hotels that offer packages, bars and restaurants, and general education, in addition to highlighting all the fantastic destinations we have here on the Shore.

The idea started in the fall of 2014 and we released our first brewery guide in 2015. As the craft beer scene has expanded on the Shore, so has Shore Craft Beer. We host popular beer festivals. In 2016 we debuted our Shore Craft Beer App, where we continue to add fun beer challenges where any craft connoisseur can embark on a challenge and win prizes; in 2018 we started "Beer Notes," the first craft beer-centered radio program available for national syndication; and in 2019 we're releasing this new brewery guide with added and updated information about all things local craft beer.

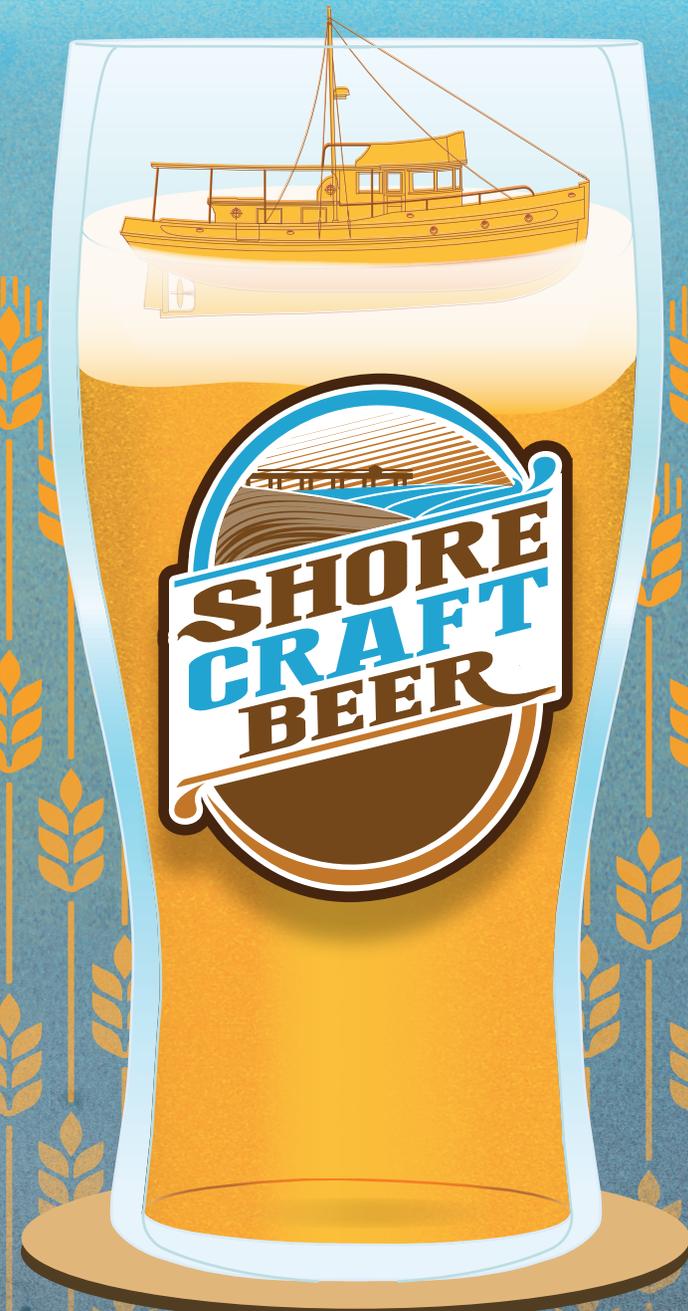

We invite you to join us, to enjoy our World Class Beer and World Class Beauty, and to see just what it is that makes the Shore a craft beer destination. Cheers!

UNDERSTANDING YOUR BEER

There are lots of different beer styles, all of which have their own variants. This list describes some of the basic aspects of the most common styles found in local craft breweries

Amber/ Red Ale

Less than dark in color focused on toasted malt with hop characteristics that can be high or low. Typically balanced and versatile beers.

Blonde Ale

Straw to deep golden color and light to medium in bitterness. Usually an all malt brew, often with subdued fruitiness. A balanced beer, light bodied and sometimes lager like.

IPA

A hoppy, bitter ale with higher alcohol by volume. IPAs have citrusy or piney aromas and flavors.

Hazy or New England IPAs

All the aroma and freshness of an IPA, but usually without the bitterness.

Lager

Fermented and conditioned at low temperatures and may be pale, golden, amber, or dark. Pale lager is the most widely consumed and commercially available style of beer in the world.

Pale Ale

Medium bitterness with hints of malt flavor and aroma. A balanced, less complicated beer that pairs well with many foods.

Pilsner

Light straw to golden color with prevalent hops and a spicy bitterness and/or floral flavor and aroma. Smooth and crisp with a slight sweetness from the malt.

Porter

Malty and balanced, medium to full dark ale with less of the deep roasted barley characteristic found in stouts.

Sour

Intentionally acidic, tart or sour taste and often lower in alcohol by volume.

Seasonal

Limited release brews meant to be enjoyed during a particular time of year.

Stout

Dark, sweet, and full-bodied ales. Typically with notes of coffee or chocolate from roasted malts. Many variations are barrel aged.

Wheat Beer

Typically fruity, spicy, and bubbly, but never heavy. Refreshing beers often brewed with local fruit, perfect for summer.

BY THE NUMBERS - Ever wonder why craft beers are often accompanied on menus by a series of numbers? Here's what they mean:

ABV - Alcohol By Volume- the standard measurement to assess the strength of a particular beer. The higher the ABV, the more alcohol a beer contains.

IBU - International Bittering Unit- measures the bitterness levels in beer and helps beer drinkers determine which styles of brews are ideal for their taste buds. This scale can be tricky, however, because higher IBU levels do not always indicate a more bitter flavor.

OceanCity.com launched Shore Craft Beer in 2014 to celebrate local craft beer and to help make the Shore a Craft Beer Destination. Two brewery guides, countless beer festivals and many, many collaborations with local breweries and businesses later, we're happy to say the effort has more than paid off. None of it would have been possible without the support of the businesses and organizations that have joined our efforts and continue to help lead the way.

USDA Rural Development Grant helped us create the Shore Craft Beer App, produce Beer Notes, develop the website, and print these brewery guides. Thank you to them and to the Tri-County Council for helping us contribute to the economic vitality of the Eastern Shore.

The OC Hotel Motel, Restaurant Association, the OC Development Corporation, Worcester and Wicomico Counties, the Town of Ocean City, the Town of Berlin, Dorchester County, Downtown Cambridge, Delmarva Public Radio, and many others have helped our efforts.

We thank all of you and look forward working together as we continue to promote the Shore as a Craft Beer Destination.
